The Minuteman long associated with the American Revolution carries a symbolic message in our times. Protecting the colonists in pre-war days was his duty as our nuclear Minuteman is our defender. Where the Minuteman was in 1775 had important relevance to the safety of revolting colonies. Of what importance are we to modern America? Where were you and what did you do in '75?

Where are you going?

Why are you going there?

What will you do when you're there?

These questions of the future are intriguing. What answers will be given over the years to the question: Where were you in '75? The accomplishments of Fort Hays State students during their college career and lifetime will reflect on politics, economics and military policy in 1975 just as our forefathers did in 1775. The events of 1975 made it a distinctive and memorable year on campus, in the community, state and nation.

Regardless of the century, knowledge of the future has been an important point to man. Our forefathers' determined efforts have been taken for granted. In 1775 many memorable events were necessary for preparation of the revolution. Patrick Henry made his famous "Liberty or Death" speech; Parliament forbid colonies to trade with anyone but Great Britain or the British West Indies; the Minutemen fought the British at Lexington and Concord; and Washington was appointed Chief of the Continental Forces. The Boston Tea Party defied the Mother Country, Thomas Paine appealed to a divided republic that independence was the only resort and colonial resistance to Townshend Acts included boycotts against British goods, intercolonial expression of condemnation and open defiance by general court to British government. On May 10, 1775, the Second Continental Congress declared war against Great Britain.

We are able to enjoy the rights that were brought about by our ancestors' determination for liberty. The freedoms to read the paper, attend political meetings, vote and express public will; are possible to exercise. But is America today, how many citizens would take Patrick Henry's stand on "Give me liberty or give me death?" The apathy in '75 will be remembered.

Man failed to heed the cry of ecology in 1975 — is that how we'll be remembered? America conquers space and rises from the ashes of political ruins — but ignores the basic need for preservation of natural resources. Ecology is a principle — but practiced only when convenient. The White Barn on campus was demolished due to the cost of salvaging the building. Much good and precious lumber was needlessly destroyed. On the other hand, many college offices had to run air conditioners or open windows in winter to keep the temperature at a reasonable level. Motorists wasted precious gas in "only going as fast as everyone else was." Conserving became a reality everyone faced.

But in Western Kansas, world situations occasionally went unnoticed because they didn't always affect us directly. Locally, the traditions, ways of life and self-centered smugness continued in simple routine.

The traditions and life styles that developed from our forefathers gave this country and region unique features known as Americana. Whether claiming woolly buffalo, "Kraut" traditions, dangling sunflowers or a whooping rodeo, our heritage of Western Kansas is a source of pride. It's displayed in the friendly atmosphere with clear skies and mild weather. A new symbol established at Fort Hays State this year was the Student Heritage given by Mortar Board. Pete Felten was commissioned to sculpture this work. Student Heritage symbolizes the student becoming educated and working in the community with fellow men.

For many, education will be the key word to '75. Whether in college or in practical situations, we continue learning all of our lives. We've gained an awareness to the world, community, and something nearly forgotten, nature. The year of '75 will be memorable for many people in many ways. How will you answer to: Where were you in '75?

MUAB Committees Select Variety of Entertainers

Singers, dancers, comedians and instrumentalists topped the list of entertainment at Fort Hays State this year. The Righteous Brothers, Bill Medley and Bobby Hatfield presented a three-hour scholarship concert sponsored by the Student Government Association.

The Special Events Committee brought a wide variety of entertainment to campus, including the Dimov Quartet, state string quartet of Bulgaria; "An Evening of Mime" and mime workshops featuring Bert Houle and Sophie Webauz; Pure Prairie League and Dave Loggins in a joint concert; the King's Singers from England; and the Bella Lewitzky Modern Dance Company performance and workshops.

The Memorial Union Activities Board featured the Burgundy Street Singers and sponsored comedian-billiards expert, Jack White. "Goldrush," a bluegrass band, provided background music for a dance sponsored by the Coffeehouse Committee.

Well-Known Performers Attract Visitors to FHS

Bob Hope entertained nearly 7,000 people in November, with jokes about politicians, golf, Hays-America and his "Afternoon in Liebenenthal" perfume. The back-up band was directed by James Olcott, FHS music instructor. Before he left Hays, Hope was made an honorary citizen and was given a plaque from the Veterans' Club. The Ellis County Historical Society also made Hope the "Honorary Buffalo Chip Throwing Champion" and presented him a trophy composed of materials found in Ellis County.

The Earl Scruggs Revue entertained a Homecoming crowd of nearly 3,000. They played music ranging from hillbilly to contemporary and were well received by students who clapped their hands and danced around the stage to the music.

Up With People performed in September. Members of the group from foreign countries typified their native lands through dress, song and dance.

A large neon sign blazing "Chicago" announced the rock music group that appeared in March. To encourage an encore, the crowd burned matches and paper. Apparently not expecting such a reaction, "Chicago" returned to stage out of costume and played several songs to terminate their Hays performance.

FHS Strives for Cultural Diversity

Fort Hays State students had a large assortment of entertainment to choose from in March and April. Highlighting it was Jeb Stuart Magruder, convicted Watergate conspirator who addressed a crowd of about 500 persons in April. He discussed how the Watergate affair and seven months in prison had affected his life.

The Carpenters were well received as they sang many of their best-known songs. A group of Hays fifth graders from Washington Grade School, made its debut as it provided the children's chorus for the song "Sing."

The Kansas City Philharmonic, sponsored by the Special Events Committee, also appeared in concert in April. Maurice Peress was the conductor.

Sila Godoy, classical guitarist who was invited to FHS by the Kansas-Paraguay Partnership Program; professional glassblower Raymond Schultz; the Michael Hennessey Mime and Music Theatre; and the Danzi Quintet also performed during April and March.

Religious Organizations Fulfill Spiritual Needs

Religious organizations provide spiritual guidance at Fort Hays State. Activities such as Bible study groups, prayer meetings, leadership training courses and fellowship meetings are open to students.

The organizations represented on campus are Baha'i Club, Baptist Student Foundation, Campus Crusade for Christ, Catholic Campus Center, Chi Alpha, Gamma Delta, Inter-Varsity, Navigators and United Christian Ministries in Higher Education.

A folk-gospel singing group, Spirit Song, was formed by several students this year.

Student, Alumni Win Political Berths

It was the year of the Tiger in local elections as four FHS alumni and one student were running for political office in Kansas.

Congressman Keith Sebelius (R-1st), '41, was re-elected to the U.S. House of Representatives; State Representative Joe Norvell (D-111th), '72, defeated former Alumni Assn. President Art Leas, '38; Dave Wasinger, Hays junior, unseated incumbent Clarence Werth for the office of Ellis County Sheriff; and Bernard Wasinger, '50, won the election as County Commissioner in Ellis County.

In one of the closest Kansas senate races in the election, Republican Sen. Bob Dole defeated U.S. Rep. Dr. Bill Roy, his Democratic opponent, by a slim margin. Dole was one of the few incumbent Republican senators to win re-election.

In the race for Kansas governor, Republican State Sen. Robert Bennett scored a narrow victory over Democrat Attorney General Vern Miller.

Homecoming Theme Depicts Circus

Fort Hays State Homecoming 1974 brought with it drifts of falling leaves, fragrant yellow football mums and reunions with classmates and friends.

"Student Heritage," a sculpture by Pete "Fritz" Felten, of Hays, was dedicated by the women of Mortar Board.

Janie Huffaker, Emporia junior, accepted the robes of FHS Homecoming queen and ruled over the activities, including the Friday night tug-of-war over Big Creek, snake dance and bonfire-pep rally.

Bluegrass and contemporary music highlighted the weekend as the Earl Scruggs Revue and the Burgundy Street Singers presented concerts Friday and Saturday nights.

Clowns, 45 floats, 27 bands and 12 cars of dignitaries participated in the biggest-ever Oktoberfest-Homecoming parade Saturday morning. During the Oktoberfest celebration, a steady crowd drifted through the park enjoying German food, beer and craft demonstrations — goose-plucking, spinning, quilting, ceramics and stone-cutting.

A steady downpour of rain failed to keep many Tiger fans away from the FHS-University of Northern Colorado game, which ended in defeat for the soggy Bengals.

Madrigal Dinner Recalls Medieval Yule Customs

Candlelight, 16th century costumes and musical entertainment set the mood for the 10th annual Old English Madrigal Dinner. Lord and Lady of the Manor, Dr. and Mrs. William Wilkins, began the festivities with a wassail toast to the Christmas season. Pages dressed in medieval garb escorted the guests to their seven-course meal which included a mixed fish plate, roast pork, Yorkshire pudding, peacock pie, salad and flaming plum pudding. A recorder ensemble, brass ensemble, harpsicord, Madrigal singers and acrobats provided entertainment throughout the meal. The Fort Hays Ballroom was transformed into a medieval English manor house for the festivities.

Ten Groups Work Together For Annual Varsity Show

A wide variety of music, ranging from John Philip Sousa marches to jazz, was presented by 10 performing groups at the annual Varsity Band Show in November.

Tiger Debs and Tiger Flags did routines to music by the Football Band. Also featured in the show were the Symphonic Band, Wind Ensemble, Alumni Dixieland Band and Civic Symphony, all under the direction of Lyle Dilley. The FHS Jazz Ensemble, directed by James Olcott, and the Fort Hays Concert Choir, directed by Donald Stout, each performed several numbers.

Other entertainment included the 14-member Manhattan High School Pops Choir, directed by FHS alumnus David Bauer; Marilyn Zimmer, FHS dance instructor; baton twirlers; and vocal and instrumental soloists.

Fifth Home Town Cookin' Features Jazz Trombonist

Sheridan Coliseum was transformed into a full-sized nightclub, complete with 36 reserved tables, candlelight, waiters and the big band sound for the fifth annual Home Town Cookin' concert in February.

The waiters, members of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, served soft drinks during the show. Trombonist Edwin "Buddy" Baker, who has performed with Stan Kenton, Henry Mancini, and Woody Herman, was featured soloist. The FHS Jazz Ensemble accompanied him during several tunes, including "Hello Young Lovers" and "Shell Game."

The Fort Hays State Radio-TV Department videotaped the concert for Channel 12, for viewing at a later date. This was the first time a live musical production had been produced for Channel 12 and the first time Home Town Cookin' had been taped.

Wet and Wild Competition Typifies '75 FHS Rodeo

The 10th annual Fort Hays State Rodeo was nearly rained out in May when almost an inch of rain fell prior to the first event. The arena, formerly in excellent condition, became wet and muddy and added problems to the stiff competition. Timed events were more dangerous because the livestock could not get good footing. Scores reflected this handicap.

Overall, FHS finished with disappointing results compared to previous years' winnings of second and sixth nationwide. Teams from 20 universities and colleges from the Central Plains Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association competed in nine events.

Individual event winners received championship belt buckles and all-around winners in the men's and women's divisions were given custom-made saddles.

Derby Days Aid Children As Students Play Games

Derby Days, Sigma Chi's annual service project to raise money for retarded children at Wallace Village, Broomfield, Colo., began wildly when Sigma Chi men put on derbies and women from residence halls and four social sororities ran after the men to get the derbies. The chase got a little rough at times and several students received minor injuries.

Other games included baby bottle drinking, fly swatter meets, tricycle races, relays, and a sewing contest. In another game, women searched in a flour and water mixture to find a disk with their team number on it. After a few minutes of searching, it was discovered that the numbers had washed off. Messy and disgruntled, the women went after the contest director and covered him with the gooey mess.

President Gustad Misses Graduation Ceremonies

This year's commencement wasn't much different from any other year — there was the processional, the black robes and mortarboards, and the diplomas. But there was one thing missing — the college president, Dr. John Gustad, who at that time was in the hospital.

Dr. Gerald Tomanek, vice president of academic affairs, filled in for Gustad during the traditional ceremonies, by giving the charge to the graduating class.

For the first time in the history of student government at Fort Hays State only one ticket appeared on the election ballot for the top three positions in Student Senate in the spring election.

Four people showed up to hear the Student Senate election results, three of whom were present or elective members of the Student Senate.

Write-ins filled most of the seats but several were still empty at the end of the year.

In compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, the Placement Office at FHS adopted a new set of procedures governing students' letters of recommendation.

This law, better known as the Buckley Amendment, gives students the right to inspect their records held at FHS. It also states that no "personally identifiable information" about a student can be released without written consent.

No Dean's Honor Roll was released for the fall semester to conform to interpretation of the law protecting a student's right to privacy.

After 16 years of existence at FHS, the Honors Program was dissolved. Financial problems and lack of full-time faculty appeared to be the main reasons for abandoning the program.

The Honors Program needed a full-time director to function effectively.

Fort Hays State President John Gustad was taken to Hadley Medical Center by ambulance on May 6. After a series of tests he was diagnosed as having a severe case of hepatitis.

Dr. Gerald Tomanek, vice president for academic affairs, filled in for Gustad during both the graduate luncheon and commencement.

Unusual Fates Unfold for FHA Queens

Apathy reigned at FHS queen contests this year. The Beauty and Beast Contest was almost cancelled because of lack of entries. Due to poor publicity on the part of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, when they finally decided to have the contest, few students knew about it.

The Homecoming crowd saw an alternate contestant robed. When one of the contestants was found ineligible to participate in the contest, Janie Huffaker substituted and was robed at the Homecoming festivities.

Miss FHS Pam Krehbiel married and relinquished her crown to Mary Kay Schmidtberger, the first runner-up. Miss Schmidtberger also held the honor of being selected 1974 Best Dressed Coed.

At Furlough, the scheduled 9 a.m. crowning of the queen was delayed since the queen did not arrive until 9:30.

At all the contests, very few students voted, which might have something to say about the popularity of queen contests at Fort Hays State.

Administrators Give Assistance

Many people assist the President in the administration of business at Fort Hays State and serve students to their fullest capacity.

Front row: Keating, Walter: Vice President for Administration and Finance; Rogers, Lynn: Director of Memorial Union; Kellerman, James: Registrar and Director of Admissions; Thompson, Dr. William: Dean, Faculty of Liberal Arts; Harbin, Dr. Calvin: Dean, Faculty of Education; Garwood, Dr. John: Dean of Instruction. Back row: Rice, Dr. Jimmy: Dean of Graduate Faculty; Pflughoft, Ron: Executive Asst. to the President; Osborne, Richard: Director of Placement; Stouffer, Jean: Associate Dean of Students; Jellison, Dr. Bill: Dean of Students; Lounsberry, Elinor: Acting Dean of Nursing; Tomanek, Dr. Gerald: Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Duties Continue Through the Year

Spring term leads to Fall term and Fall term to Summer term, creating jobs that continue through the year. Administrators work all year keeping the college alive.

Front row: Nugent, James: Director of Housing; Manteuffel, Walter: Comptroller; Ward, Sally: Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association; Durand, Dan: Director of the Physical Plant; Huffman, Ralph: Director of Field Services. Back row: Myerly, Lois: Administrative Asst. to the President; Allen, Karen: College Nurse; Bozeman, Earl: Director of Planning; Hobbs, Earl: Assoc. Speech Offers Communication Modes

The Department of Speech and Theatre has the difficult job of coordinating two different and yet very similar fields of communications. The department specializes in personal and public speaking, debate, radio and television broadcasting. On the theatre side, several major productions and student directed plays are performed.

Creative dramatics, a new course added to the curriculum, took the challenge of teaching students to use their bodies and imaginations in classroom situations.

Speech Pathology services are highly regarded on the FHS campus. Each year, students and faculty participate in the National Speech and Hearing Association Conference. This year, it was held at FHS in April. Further attribution to the program is on page 85.

Men Seek Truth In Life Theories

Throughout the history of man the search has been for the philosopher to find his theory of life and life after death. Students involved with the Philosophy Department familiarize themselves with the theories of famous philosophers. Areas receiving most concentration are the reasoning, more and aesthetic values. The department stresses questions involving man's view of himself centered around the universe.

a. Dr. Sam Hamilton, department chairman, takes time out to enjoy one of his favorite pastimes, working in his shop.
b. "Who am I?" The concept of the self is an old one and has been discussed endlessly as part of man's search for identity. Man accepts Descartes' answer, "I think, therefore I am."

Language Opens World Communication

Regular language sequences for the language major provided greater understanding in speaking, reading and writing skills this year. The understanding of the foreign tongue is not only for the major, but for all interested in world communication. Junior and senior teaching majors had the opportunity to serve as student interns, gaining experience in teaching and tutoring.

a. German humor is abundant in literature studied by this advanced class.

Art Creations Relay Concepts of Self

Feelings and ideas which can be shown only through art are expressed in many different ways. The art classes are given much free time to convey emotions and try new techniques. Individual expression of reality and fantasy is sought by the student in areas of sculpture, painting, ceramics, creative photography and jewelry making. Designs that the art students paint and construct add to the overall campus color.

a. John C. Thorns, department chairman, maintains files of art through the ages.

b. Personal-individual art demonstrations are given to show what art means to each of its creators.

Students Prepare For Music Career

The Music Department not only provides for the education of its majors, but also fulfills various school activities. Some of the activities include marching band; pep band; recitals by student, faculty and guest performers; opera; and various concerts given by the students. In addition, students receive further education in many different areas of music. Responsible for the administration of all the degree programs in music as well as the service courses is Dr. Leland Bartholomew, chairman of the department.

Service Centers Help Community

FHS Service Centers not only aid students by giving them a chance to work with people who need their help, but also contribute to the wide community area by offering free diagnosis and therapy.

Reveille Theme Depicts 'Where Were You In '75?'

"Where were you in '75?" was the theme for the 1975 Reveille. Building up to the bicentennial, the symbolism of the minuteman and theme of '75 relates the problems of today with those of the revolutionary days.

In his second year as editor, Mark DeWald headed a staff of seventeen and with them, witnessed the retirement of Katherine Rogers, yearbook adviser for the past eighteen years.

The 1974 Reveille received a first-class rating from the Associated Collegiate Press, as well as an honorable mention in the Pi Delta Epsilon contest. Capturing the General Excellence trophy at the Rocky Mountain Press Association Conference, the Reveille also took top place trophies in sports photography, layout, theme and copy divisions.

Leader Staffers Gain Recognition; Produce 'Lampoon' Issue Finals Week

The State College Leader staff discovered that producing a newspaper can be as fun as well as rewarding. The staff worked with professionals at the Hays Daily News where the Leader went to press.

The 1974-75 school year saw the change of the Leader flag. The publication gained recognition at the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Conference and it maintained a first-class rating while reorganizing the staff in the spring. A humorous lampoon edition of the Leader, entitled the State College Loser, was pub-

Teaching the students about television production by involving them in it, is the idea behind the television studio activities. Productions vary from instructional material for teachers to news casts, and delayed broadcasts of Tiger basketball games. Operating Channel 12 of the Hays Cable T.V. station, students present two hours of programming daily.

Highlights of the year were the use of color cable-cast for the first time by students, furnished by KCA Television of Junction City; interviews with Kansas Secretary of Health and Environment Metzler and Watergate conspirator Jeb Magruder; and the filming of Home Town Cookin', all of which were sent to several cable stations across the state.

Debaters Gather Trophies; Meet Tough Competition

The Fort Hays State Debate Squad won four trophies while attending twelve tournaments in the 1974-75 season. The squad finished the year by compiling its best record in several years. First semester the six-member team entered in junior division debate because none of the team were seniors. Second semester, however, they were permitted to enter the senior division.

Attending tournaments in Arizona and Pennsylvania, as well as throughout the state, the squad met with very tough competition. Fourth and fifth place trophies were brought home from the tournaments at Johnson County, Butler County, the University of Arizona and the meet held in Shippenburg, Penn.

Dance Becomes Modern Art In Orchesis Performances

Orchesis is a modern dance club whose primary purpose is to perform. Its members are drawn from all departments on campus. The only prerequisite of the club is the desire to perform. Many of the dances are of an avant-garde style and are often directed and choreographed by the students.

Orchesis members and the Folk Dance Class presented an outdoor concert as part of the Hays Arts Festival. Members composed solo interpretations and group dances. Another dance group under Marilyn Zimmer's direction was the Folk Dance Class which presented international dances from around the world with 40 students participating.

Other performances included "Fort Hays Dancers in Concert" in October and a spring concert in March. Dances were set to a wide range of music periods.

Operas Convey Emotions; Departments Create Shows

Comedy on the Bridge and Riders to the Sea were the two operas produced with combined efforts of the Speech and Music Departments. Devoted theater and music fans comprised the audiences and the operas were well received. Differing from past years, attendance was poor by local and area patrons.

In Comedy on the Bridge, five people are trapped on a bridge between two opposing armies.

Although all purchased tickets to get on the bridge, none of the people can get off without a ticket-to-exit. In order to pass the time, the Brewer, Jim Balthazor, tries to kiss Josephine, Cindy Dreiling and Jil Galloway, and is seen by her fiancé, Michael Swafford, and the Brewer's wife, Nancy Whisman and Paula Rothe. Amid the turmoil of the war, the group struggles to discover a way to get off the bridge without tickets.

Farce Initiates Season; Attracts Large Audiences

A Flea in Her Ear, a bedroom farce by George Feydeau, initiated the 1974-75 theater season. Staged in Felten-Start Theater in October, the play centers around Raymonde Chandebises', Genell Roberts, efforts to check her husband's faithfulness. Her friend, Lucienne Homenides de Histan-gua, Shari Steen, is persuaded to compose a letter to entrap Chan-debise, Ron Fischli, who has been faithful to his wife. Falling into the wrong hands, the letter causes confusion and comedy before the mystery is unraveled. The appre-ciation of the audience was apparent by the large crowd pres-ent each night that the play was performed.

Viewers React to Depth Of Marriage Commentary

Henrik Ibsen's commentary on marriage provided material for the Speech Department's presentation of A Doll's House in late February.

The depth of the audience's reaction was evident by the quiet acceptance of the tragedy they witnessed.

Nora, a pampered wife and mother of three children had forged a signature on a promissory note years before in order to obtain money for her ill husband, Torvald. The owner of the note, having discovered the forgery, attempts to blackmail her. Nora, Rachel Kraus, and Torvald, Neil Miller, return from a masquerade party and Torvald learns of the situation. Terrified that he will be publicly humiliated and ruined, Torvald quarrels with Nora and she eventually leaves him.

a. Taken by surprise with a visit from her old friend, Nora welcomes Kristine into her home.

b. After years of being mere friends, Dr. Rank discloses the true depths of his feelings for Nora.

Board Guides Consumers as Service; Frat Benefits Endowment Association

The students on the Consumer Relations Board get nothing from their work but self-satisfaction and opportunities for some great experiences. One might say that they are an extension of the Attorney General's office in Topeka. The board's main purpose was to help with consumer problems being experienced by people on or related to the campus. In the first semester, the members put together an informative booklet called "Don't Get Ripped Off."

Geology Activities Vary; Sociology Interests Met

Geology Club sought to develop friendships among students in the department. Intramurals, field trips, social events and informal discussion groups were some of their activities. Members' dues went to finance two scholarships and provide a book award.

Geology Club sponsored field trips to Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Arizona and various other western states. They also gave presentations at conventions and collected materials for the Sternberg Memorial Museum.

Population control, social work and drug abuse headed the topics presented at regular meetings of the Sociology Club.

Coeds Promote Attainments; Music Honorary Active

Kappa Omicron Phi is a national home economics honor society that promotes scholarship and leadership and encourages broader social and higher intellectual and cultural attainments. This group supports campus activities and undertakes civic projects. In the spring the pledges hosted a picnic in honor of the graduating seniors.

Membership in Phi Mu Alpha Sin- fonia, the men's honorary music group doubled in numbers this year. They helped with piano festivals, sponsored Solo Day and provided stage settings for recitals. They set up for Home Town Cookin' and during the concert, actives and pledges became waiters who served the audience. Fall and spring picnics were sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha for those involved with the Music Department. Keith Higgins was elected Outstanding Sinfonian and Mark DeWald received the annual scholarship.

Pi Delta Epsilon Promotes Journalism; Pi Omega Pi Assists With Bloodmobile

Pi Delta Epsilon members are chosen from those that have served at least one year on a publication staff. Members heard guest speakers in the field of radio, community and daily newspaper; helped with the high school journalism conference in the fall and the Kansas Scholastic Press Association contests in February. They also assisted with Reveille distribution.

Pi Omega Pi is an honorary business education society. To be initiated as a member, a business education major must maintain a 2.75 grade point average. As a money-raising project, the society had a pepsi and baked items stand at the Oktoberfest. Four delegates were sent to New Orleans in December for the International Convention of Pi Omega Pi. The group's projects were: assisted with the Bloodmobile, helped with the Business Week Banquet in the spring, tutored to undergraduates and hosted various speakers throughout the year.

LIT Compiles Material for Magazine; SPURS Develop Leadership Qualities

Lambda Iota Tau is an honorary English organization. Last year the group began work on a magazine, AZLIT which will be published next year. The magazine will contain the work of students and faculty: poetry, essays, criticism and fictional writing. Lambda Iota Tau will take any profit from the sale of the magazine and use it for the support of scholarships in the English Department.

SPURS is an honorary society composed of sophomore women whose purpose is to serve the college and community to develop potential qualities of leadership in outstanding young women.

Two traditions that SPURS carried out in the school year were that of ushering at theater productions and assisting at Student Senate election. Other projects and activities included: a Valentines party for the Friendship home, helped raise money for the Day Care Center by selling memberships and for The House through egg sale.

Senate Supports ASK Bill; Views P.E. Requirements

Self-modification, ASK and allocations made up much of Student Senate activities. A series of proposed constitutional amendments eventually led to a change in the seating requirements in Student Senate.

Other amendments were worked out to clarify the purpose of the student constitution and to take out obsolete references. Student Senate worked with the Associated Students bill, created for a student advisory board to go to the Board of Regents and increase of student wage to two dollars per hour.

A serious controversy over the validity of the physical education requirement resulted in a poll in conjunction with a question asking support of change of Fort Hays State to university status. Visitation, resident hall parking and a concert by the Righteous Brothers were other Senate concerns.

Election to a class office brings membership in Student Senate and subsequent responsibilities. Although voting is apathetic with only a few ballots cast, the winners move into positions of prestige and influence, and for those in the offices, it is a valuable experience and is long remembered. Baptist Center Serves Sunday Meals; Gamma Delta Encompasses Lutherans

Gamma Delta was the only organization on campus of Lutheran students. Gamma Delta provided such activities as prayer groups, suppers and interfaith meetings.

The Baptist Student Center served a hot dinner for students on Sunday nights when they couldn't eat in the dorm cafeteria. They also had a group of young people named the Kerygma Team who went to six churches across Kansas during spring break to perform the play, "Heaven Isn't So Bad" by Evelyn Nauenburg.

Catholic Campus Center Utilizes Student Talent

Catholic Campus Center attempted to serve the entire college community through religious services, counseling, educational and social activities. The Center also participated in programs which brought college students into contact with the wider city community. It was involved in several programs, as Adopt-a-Grandparent, Meals on Wheels and the Big Brother/Big Sister program, as well as encouraging students to share their own personal abilities through tutoring and instructing small children.

a. Choir members, accompanied by guitar, add another dimension to the Mass held at the Memorial Union.

b. Weekly scripture study was just one of the many activities offered to students by the Center.

a. Linebacker Jim Wilson, 84, puts the clamps on the ball carrier as cornerback Kent Griffin, 23, stands by if needed.

b. Cornerback Robert Douglas, 21, prepares to receive a punt while tailback Mike Leiker, 33, offers to lead the way upfield.

c. Always in the back of a player's mind is the threat of injury, and against Northwestern Oklahoma the victim was Ron Hawley. The FHS trainers load Hawley onto a stretcher for a ride to the hospital.

d. Defensive Coordinator Jerry Cullen prepares three of his regulars, Bruce Van Petten, 5, Steve Simpson, 4, and Mike Cruickshank, 80, for their duties.

e. Freshman tight end Greg Steen, 85, has to go high for a pass in the Pittsburg secondary. Steen was the Tigers' second leading receiver with 23 catches.

Football Team's Optimism Dissolves Into 1-9 Record

Despite pre-season indications of a strong team, the Tigers had trouble combining a good offensive and defensive game throughout the fall. FHS was plagued by mistakes and the inability to score in its first nine games and watched in frustration as the opponents recorded all nine victories.

a. While Jim Wilson, 84, keeps the other troops away, safety Steve Simpson, 4, levels a blow on the intended receiver.

b. Flanker Lonnie White searches for open country as he heads upfield on a punt return.

a. Fans at the Homecoming game bring out umbrellas as the rain starts to fall. At the end of the first quarter, seeking shelter seemed to be a good idea and by half-time, the stands were nearly deserted.

b. Doug Dallman, 52, co-captain Steve Simpson, 4, and Scott Soukup, 74, lead the team past the Tiger Debs and cheerleaders into battle.

c. Wondering what one has to do to get a win, Head Coach Bill Giles expresses the agony of his staff and players.

d. Relying on his teammates for protection, quarterback Rick Peoples lets loose a pass intended for a quick six points.

FHS Loses Close Games; Jinx Continues Its Hold

Opening the season, FHS fell to Northwestern Okla. 28-18 then dropped a 26-14 decision to Kearney State. The slump continued as Missouri Southern held for a 10-9 win and Eastern N.M. edged the Tigers 14-7. Many positions were filled by freshmen and sophomores as Coach Bill Giles and his staff tried to find the winning combination.

A rain-drenched Homecoming crowd saw Northern Colo. pull out a 3-0 squeaker, and the next week, KSC-Pittsburg turned back the Tigers 21-7. Washburn capped the FHS home schedule with a 14-7 win and Emporia State thumped the struggling Tigers 28-13. Panhandle State deepened the agony by handing the team a 26-13 setback.

a. Linebackers Chris Cullen, 51, and Donn Swanbom, 50, take a breather and plan their strategy for the next defensive stand.

b. Freshman Mike Leiker, 33, drives for a few extra yards despite other ideas by the Emporia State Hornets.

c. Some say football is mere blocking and tackling, and Greg Steen executes his blocking assignment to perfection.

d. Northern Col. quarterback Gerry Dattalo, 14, finds himself the victim of a blitz by FHS safety Robin Stiles, 2, and linebacker Jim Wilson, 84.

e. Ron Hawley is the target for a pass and another Tiger gain.

a. Rolling out behind his blockers, quarterback Jerry Krueger looks for a Tiger breaking open downfield.

b. It's time for the field goal team and kicker Phil Harris, 1, leads his teammates, Dave Thom, 76, Chris Cullen, 51, Tim Weiss, 71, Tony Bell, 42, and Steve Simpson, 4, into the game.

c. Rick Peoples, 12, hurdles a blocker and slips out of the grasp of a defender at the line of scrimmage. Lonnie White, 40, finds he can only lend moral support.

d. An extra yard or two is all Rick Peoples wants, but he has to work to get it.

e. Anticipating a hard tackle is Mike Leiker, 33, the team's second leading rusher for the season.

Team Ends Season With Gratifying Victory

Although shaken by defeats, injuries and disciplinary action, the young Tigers traveled to Pueblo, Colo. and closed out the season with a gratifying 28-14 victory over Southern Colo. With freshman Greg Custer quarterbacking the team and other freshmen scattered throughout the roster, FHS showed it still had the spirit and determination to play good football. The Tigers finished the GPAC season tied for fourth place with Southern Colo. and Emporia State, all with 1-4 records. Four members of the team were named to the all-conference squad: split end Ron Hawley, offensive tackle Scott Soukup, defensive tackle Dave Thom and strong safety Steve Simpson.

a. Tailback Blane Johnson, 22, seems to have reached the end of the road on this play as he is firmly in the grip of the opposition.

b. Was he inbounds or wasn't he? All-conference split end Ron Hawley latches onto another pass, but is apparently forced out of bounds by the defender.

c. Several Tigers got piled up on the way to the Pittsburg runner. Getting into the action are Mike Cruickshank, 80, Jim Homolka, 77, Tyler Deines, 65, Steve Simpson, 4, Chris Cullen, 51, and Bruce Van Petten, 5.

d. Fullback Craig Horchem, 35, ducks low and picks a hole through the combat at the line of scrimmage.

Harriers Fall From NAIA Top Ten

After establishing a winning reputation over several years, the 1974 Cross Country team fell short of expectations. A third place finish at the Great Plains Athletic Conference Championships and a 14th place standing at the NAIA National Meet were the lowest for the Tigers in their history.

Injuries hindered several runners during the season and some of the returning lettermen were never in top form.

Francis, Dennis Bartosz, Neil Miller, Greg Ketzner, Ron Peach, Dave Delaney.

b. Bill Lowry stays on the heels of frontrunner Ken Bell during the Kearney State dual. Bell was the Tigers' top finisher most of the season and Lowry had some fine outings.

c. Coach Alex Francis, since 1956 has guided his teams to four national titles and eight conference crowns.

Although the FHS harriers found the going rough in the major meets, they won all three of their dual encounters. A convincing edge over Kearney State and narrow wins over Emporia State and Adams State gave the Tigers an unblemished dual record. They successfully defended their title in the Emporia Invitational and placed second at the NAIA District 10 Meet for the second consecutive year.

a. Two additions to the squad, Bill Filener and Garry Sigle, pass one of the mile marks in the Emporia State race where a group of chilly fans line the course.

b. It's early in the race and the Tigers are content to let the competition remain alongside. Scott Tichenor keeps pace with the Kearney State leader, while Ken Bell, Garry Sigle and Bill Lowry stay close to the front.

c. Garry Sigle grimaces from the strain of the race. Sigle was the Tigers' top man at the national meet in 45th place.

Gymnasts Add to Winning Tradition; Place Fourth at NAIA National Meet

Another strong gymnastics team kept the FHS program in the national spotlight in 1975. The Tigers rolled to a 9-1 record.

b. James Bobo was a helpful addition to the Tigers as he showed versatility in several events.

c. The only four-year letterman on the squad, Danny Delgado, was a consistent performer on the parallel bars and still rings.

Tigers Experience Tough Encounters Through Year

An experienced team represented FHS on the court in 1974-75. With six seniors and a fine group of transfers, the Tigers had high hopes of winning their first GPAC title. The dreams turned to anguish as injuries and inconsistent play left the team battling the .500 mark much of the season. The Tigers won both games in their annual doubleheader, but lost five straight road games early in the season. Several lineup changes failed to spark the team as the opponents continued to pull out the close games.

a. Assistant Coach Bud Moeckel gives an encouraging word to Ed Schumacher as Head Coach Chuck Brehm assesses the situation on the court. Schumacher led the Tigers' scoring attack in his first season.

b. Despite other ideas from the defender, senior Brent Frack, 44, lays up the shot.

c. A happy group of Tigers head for the locker room after one of their five conference wins, leaving FHS in a second place tie with Emporia State and Northern Colorado.

d. Senior Ron Crowell, 40, works for the short jumper he used frequently to move into 12th place on the career scoring list.

Season Ends in Flurry; FHS Wins Play-off Berth

FHS took the early lead in the GPAC race, but two losses in Colorado all but knocked the Tigers out of contention. After their return home, the Tigers won four straight games and salvaged a second place tie in the conference.

a. Ron Crowell hooks one in over a Hornet in the 105-83 rout of Emporia State.
b. The Tiger junior varsity found the going tough against the alumni in their annual battle, but the jayvees pulled out a win. Tigers Ron Nutsch, 40, and Terry Cordes, 14, scrap with old-timers Mike Gaskill, 55, and Doug Thurman, 45, as the action gets fierce.

c. Coach Chuck Brehm finds himself in the game when play proceeds over the out-of-bounds stripe.

d. Junior guard Tom Marks, 42, helped the Tigers in reserve during the season and sparked the team with his hustle.

Tigers Lose Title Game; Schumacher Wins Honors

Despite its losing record, FHS was picked for a District 10 Play-off spot. The Tigers responded in the play-off with a 93-87 overtime win over conference champion Pittsburg. They ended the season two nights later dropping the championship game to Marymount. The team's top scorer and the spark of the late season surge, Ed Schumacher, was honored with All-GPAC and District 10 recognition.

Wrestlers Test Skills Despite Problems

The 1974-75 season was one of scheduling problems and untimely injuries for the FHS wrestlers. With many of the opponents from the NCAA ranks, the Tigers compiled a 4-8 dual record and competed in two tourneys. Four wrestlers, Stuart McGowne, Bill Havice, Durand Dickerson and Rich Settle, competed in the NAIA finals, but only Dickerson advanced beyond the first round.

a. The score mounted with each event as FHS overpowered Kearney State in their yearly dual. The scoreboard tells the story as the Tigers have an overwhelming edge over the visitors going into the 880-yard run, and the 1:56 school indoor record gives the runners something to shoot for.

b. Cyrel Foote was a consistent winner in the middle distance events for the Tigers and usually found himself alone as he neared the finish line.

c. A school record fell in the first meet of the season as Dwight Stoppel cleared 6-9 in the high jump. He won All-America honors later in the year by placing second at the NAIA Indoor Meet.

Tigers Run Past Strong Competition; Stoppel Wins All-America Honors

Gross Memorial Coliseum was the scene of exciting indoor track competition for the second season, and the fans who attended the Tigers' meets certainly didn't go away disappointed. FHS routed Kearney State 97-13 and whipped Emporia State 72-37 in dual action. Closing out the indoor season were the NAIA Championships, and Dwight Stoppel led the Tigers with a second place finish in the high jump. Bruce Kraisinger was the other FHS scorer, finishing fifth in the pole vault.

a. Battling the competition and the hurdles too can make this race one of track's toughest. The Tigers taking on all comers are Curtis Foote, second from left, and Mark Nold, right.

b. Walker Paul Ide found some competition from Kearney State's entry in the early laps of the two-mile walk, but the Tiger All-American had enough energy left to pull away at the end.

c. A last-second surge made the difference as senior Bruce Kraisinger nipped his nearest foe at the tape.

a. Roger Lowry sets the long distance pace and Scott Tichenor and Dennis Bartosz remain in the pack against Emporia State's runners.

b. With his opponent watching his every move, Lonnie Carter follows through on his shot put during one of the Tigers' popular all-comers meets. Carter led the Tigers to their third straight GPAC championship in the spring by winning the shot put and discus.

c. Up and over goes Bruce Kraisinger, a fifth place finisher in the pole vault at the NAIA indoor meet.

d. Bob Stewart makes sure he is ready before turning and letting loose his next throw.

e. Freshman Mark Mathews brought his unique high jump form to FHS and strengthened the Tigers through the indoor circuit.

Tigers Win Fifth Straight Conference Championship

Another good showing in the field events lifted the track team to the GPAC championship again in 1975. The Tigers scored 84 points in the field events and added 44 more during the races to keep their title. Lonnie Carter led the FHS forces by winning both the discus and shot put. Other first place winners were Tyler Deines in the javelin, Sherman Herold in the long jump and Cyrel Foote in the 440.

a. All alone as he hits the tape, Steve Herrman proves he is a Tiger to watch in future years as he swept many honors in his freshman season.

b. Awaiting the gun, the lead-off men for the FHS relay teams, Bill Filener and Bruce Kraisinger, think about their strategy.

c. Steve Miller plants his foot and begins his lefty throw, which won him the 1974 conference championship.

d. Tiger hurdlers Loren Wiens and Reagan Smith concentrate on the obstacles in their path instead of the trio of Hornets.

e. It was an easy race for Curtis Foote as he pulls away from his nearest rival to break the tape.

Harriers Place in Outdoor Finals; FHS Falls From Top Team Standings

The annual final of the track and field season is the NAIA Outdoor Championships and six Tigers traveled to Arkansas for the 1975 meet. The top FHS finisher was Paul Ide, who retained his All-America standing by placing third in the 10,000-meter walk. Freshman Steve Herrman was the next Tiger with a seventh place finish in the walk, while Gary Grubb placed eighth in the pole vault and Dwight Stoppel tied for eighth in the high jump.

a. Two Tiger relay teams begin their anchor legs with the opposition already far ahead. Dan Olinger and Dan Trippel on the left and Curtis and Cyrel Foote on the right will need a good handoff and a fast start to get back in the race.

b. At the end it's a different story as Cyrel Foote moves past Emporia State's anchor man.

c. Giving it all he's got, GPAC champion Sherman Herold stretches out the final feet of his jump.

Young Netters Challenged

A tennis squad composed almost entirely of freshmen and sophomores found the going rough. A challenging schedule against some of the top teams in the state resulted in a 2-13 record for the FHS netters, with the only wins coming against Kansas Newman and Marymount. FHS closed the season with a seventh place finish at the GPAC Tournament.

Golf Team Ends Season With Strong GPAC Finish

The Tiger golfers saved their best play for the last day of the season when they captured fourth place at the GPAC Tourney. FHS held the sixth place spot after the first day of the conference championships, but led the field during the last 18 holes to move up in the standings.

Joe Kanak led the charge with a 72, which boosted him into a tie for sixth in the medalist race. Kanak also led the Tigers to their only win of the season, a first place finish at the Marymount Triangular. He won the medalist honors on the Salina course that day and also claimed the low score at the Marymount Invitational, at which FHS took second.

a. Senior Dick Ahlberg found time between his student teaching duties to give the Tigers some needed experience on the links.

d. The pitch seems to have the Yankton batter undecided, but catcher Steve Rohr is hoping for a strike.

e. A close play at the bag will either spark the approval or the ire of the FHS fans in the stands. Shortstop Lance Wise strides across the base against Kearney State.

Baseball Team Earns GPAC Berth; Drops Two Straight in Tournament

It was a hot and cold spring for the Tiger baseball team as its record hovered near the .500 mark during most of the season. FHS won three of its five games with Kearney State to qualify for the conference tourney, but consecutive losses to Northern Colorado and Emporia State sent the Tigers home from Greeley, Colo. after the first day. The Tigers' fortunes were the same on an earlier trip to Colorado as they lost a pair to the University of Colorado at Boulder. FHS matched power with another Big Eight team, Kansas State University, five times and came away in better shape, claiming two wins over the Wildcats.

a. A daring lead may draw a throw and Galen Pfannenstiel is ready just in case.
b. Rick Zimmerman throws a warm-up pitch as Coach Earl Hobbs looks over the game situation. Zimmerman came on strong in the late season action to lead the Tiger pitching staff with a 7-3 record.

Tigers Gain Second Place in District 10 Playoffs

The Tigers' bid for their third straight NAIA District 10 title was turned back by the Emporia State Hornets. FHS won three of five games in the two-day tourney, losing only to its old nemesis, Emporia State, which won seven of the eight meetings between the teams during the season. Two Tigers, pitcher Rick Zimmerman and centerfielder Keith Harper, were named to the All-District 10 first team.

Coeds Earn Region Title; Place 3rd in State Play

After compiling a 5-1 league record and claiming the league crown, Fort Hays State's varsity volleyball team placed third in state play, losing to Kansas University and Kansas State University. Overcoming personal differences midway through the season, the FHS women played perhaps their finest match of the season in state competition against favored K-State. Both games of the match went into overtime with K-State emerging victorious.

Completing the year with a 17-11 record, the team enjoyed bitter-sweet success with an increase in official school and state support but a student body who didn't seem to care.

Varsity Women Netters Compile 3-5 Dual Record

Women's tennis had a bittersweet year under new head coach Jody Schwich. Compiling an overall 3-5 dual record, the varsity netters came away with a first place finish in Kansas Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics for Women invitational tourney and a second place finish at the Barton County Invitational.

Underclassmen made up the biggest portion of the squad, with only two seniors participating. Three freshmen and four sophomores filled the remainder of the roster, indicating some strong women's tennis at Fort Hays State in the future.

FHS Women Gymnastics — 'Only the Fittest Survive'

Women's gymnastics turned out to be "survival of the fittest" as 15 women began the season but only seven had what it took to complete the taxing grind.

As a team they completed the season without a victory, but several individuals showed great improvement and promise for success. Freshmen Glenda Runft and Micki Armstrong and veteran Jerri Engle led the team, which was coached by Marilyn Zimmer.

Coed Cagers Take League; Falter in State Tourney

After a superb win over Emporia State in first round action of the state tournament, Fort Hays State's hopes for a regional berth were dashed by a determined Kansas University crew.

Trailing throughout the first half and most of the second half KU gained momentum with just under five minutes left in the crucial contest. They gained a two-point margin for the win. Fort Hays had several chances to send the game into overtime, but could not find the basket.

The disappointed Tiger coeds went on to defeat Bethany in the consolation game and settled for a third place finish.

Overall, the FHS women put together an impressive 17-7 season and an unblemished 6-0 league record.

Tigerettes Set Records

Breaking records became almost run-of-the-mill for the 1975 Tigerettes. The first record to fall was the individual scoring mark for one game as senior Chris Keller pumped in 27 points early in the season. The next record to go took team effort as the coed cagers eclipsed the 1974 record of 77 points in a game with a 90 point effort. Other records established included 10 free throws in a game by Marci Penner and 26 rebounds in an outing by Kathy Bahner.

Numerous Injuries Slow Women's Softball Efforts

Between two broken ankles, a broken nose and a shoulder muscle separation, the Fort Hays State softball team managed to gain a piece of the league crown and post a fourth place finish in state.

With only eight veterans in her first year as head coach, Jody Schwich moved her team to a 2-3 conference mark and a 14-6 finish for the year. Schwich was one of the major factors which helped to rebound from last year's 2-6 record.

Cheerleader Image Rises; Still Faces Indifference

Minor problems resulted in policy changes for cheerleading at Fort Hays State.

Problems that could be alleviated by the adoption of a cheerleading constitution included sporadic practice attendance and non-existent support of the wrestling team. General feelings about the cheerleaders and their part in athletic events improved over previous years. Some people felt they were indispensable. Others deemed the squad unnecessary, but a nice addition. Though support and approval of the cheerleaders increased, tinges of indifference remained within a large segment of the campus population.

Intramural Participants Show Competitive Spirit

Nowhere else in college can so many students get together and engage in friendly competition than in intramural sports. Each person had the chance to participate as an individual or as a team.

Horseshoes and touch football started off the season. Football is played on the basis of group participation and team competition with a playoff system very much like professional sports. All-star players were chosen as well as having team play-offs. All-school champions were decided on an advancing winners basis. Horseshoes were also played in single elimination style.

Golf and tennis were other major outdoor sports played in the fall. There's a high level of competition in each fall sport.

As the seasons changed, so did intramural sports. The outdoor intramural sports of football, horseshoes, tennis and golf make way for the indoor competition. Wrestling, basketball, table tennis and swimming are some of the major indoor sports.

Swimming interests have grown rapidly in the last few years. New teams were formed and a high level of competition existed. The spectator interest grew as well.

McConnell Sees Challenge In Guiding Intramurals

Wayne McConnell has five objectives that he has worked to fulfill through intramurals. They are recreation, social contact, permanent interest, group spirit and physical fitness. Continually, these goals have been the objectives of all intramural sports.

Guidance and direction have been freely given and gladly shared with all participants of intramural sports. Long hours and tedious days also challenge McConnell. Since 1969, when he took over the directorship, McConnell has expanded the intramural sports program from 17 sports to 23 participating sports including swimming, diving, archery and handball.

Only the unselfish desire for good sports and sportsmanship given by Wayne McConnell could keep intramural sports going.

Intramural Participation Results in Recognition

Participation is the key to intramural sports. Such sports as softball and volleyball allow each student the chance for individual and group participation.

Each year All-Star players are chosen on the basis of their individual talent and on their attitude and help through team sports. All-Star teams are chosen for each team sport and one individual is chosen each year as the outstanding individual sportsman. Members who are chosen to the All-Star group have shown good sportsmanship, leadership and a willingness to participate in intramural sports.

Teke's Kidnap Caper 'Sweet' Success

Men of Tau Kappa Epsilon worked hard throughout the year concentrating on campus and social activities, intramurals, public service and scholarship.

Public service played a big part in the Teke's year. During Halloween the fraternity members kidnapped the presidents of the four sororities on campus and ransomed each president for one bag of candy from each member of the sorority. The men then matched each bag, so every kindergarten and first grade pupil in Hays received a small bag of candy on Halloween day. In the spring, the men sponsored a Chariot Ride to raise funds for Homer B. Reed Center.

Members of the chapter were involved in campus leadership posts such as the FKHS radio staff, State College Leader staff, the Memorial Union Activities Board and Student Senate.

Social events included several informals, the Homecoming Formal and the Red Carnation Ball formal.

IHC Promotes Dorm Life; Hall Honorary Established

Interhall Council, better known as IHC, tries to promote dorm life and activities. The Council consists of the hall presidents, dorm representatives and others elected at large. IHC had an active year by promoting Homecoming activities and organizing various dorm dances. They also sponsored Spring Swing.

The men of McGrath spent an active and enjoyable year participating in many activities that range from sponsoring dances to excelling in intramural sports.

The size of the dorm added to the cooperation between the residents not only in their activities but also in their many projects. The major event which residents participated in was Spring Swing sponsored by IHC. McGrath Hall sponsored Letha Gaeddert for Homecoming Queen candidate.

McMindes Hall Sets Stage for Many FHS Activities

Many residents at McMindes Hall consider their resident hall as a college home. McMindes Hall participated in several major activities throughout the year. Janie Huffaker was crowned Homecoming Queen and Holly Kuhlman won the title of Miss McMindes which enabled her to compete in the Miss Fort Hays State Pageant.

Weather permitting, women participated in intramural activities such as volleyball, basketball and softball. At various times, the residence hall staged a Barbeque Supper, a 50's dance and in March, the Spring Formal.

Wiest Hall Men Welcome First Male 'Housemother'

Wiest Hall, largest men's residence hall on campus, was involved in a wide variety of activities. Men competed in intramural football, basketball and baseball. Other activities included polka parties and keggers to which they often invited the women from McMinder Hall.

The main event was Wiest Week. Festivities began with a St. Patrick's dance. Pott County Pork and Beans provided the music. On Tuesday, two movies were shown. Wednesday was Casino Night. Games included blackjack, chuck-luck, craps and roulette. Items donated by local merchants were auctioned. Wiest Week ended with "Recreation Night at the Union."

d. Valor Riedel and E. J. DeWald find time to relax and discuss their viewpoints on various topics.

The Wooster Challenge: 84 Families in Two Blocks

Wooster residents live in conditions that most college students never realize exist. They're close to the campus, 84 neighboring families within a two-block area and the advantage of making new friends. For some, the challenge is to keep friends after new associates get to know them better.

Residents grouped with their friends to have a Christmas dinner and dance, a picnic in the spring and many fun weekend get togethers.

College housing provides year-round occupancy for families. For many, the husband-wife team involves one making a living while the other attends college.

College officials increased rent, effective June 1, adding an additional $14 to $19 per month and severed electric benefits. Many families weighed the problem and decided to find other living facilities.

Custer Hall Motto
Don't Study

Don't study when you're tired
Or have something else to do
Don't study when you're happy
For that would make you blue
Don't study in the day time
Don't study on in the night
But study all the other times
With all your main and might.

Custer Hall was built in 1924 as a dormitory for women and named for the wife of General Custer. It accommodated eighty-four girls. The new wing of Custer Hall, completed in 1952, provided housing for an additional 113 women. The original structure was remodeled in 1968. In 1971, it became the only coed dorm on campus.

The first day of school at Western Branch State Normal School was on June 23, 1902, with photographs of William Picken and Miss Anna Keller inset. After thirty years of planning and building Fort Hays had become a campus of a new school. With a tuition fee of $5.00, fifty-seven students enrolled. The town stores closed for the day bringing the businessmen and families to the opening ceremonies. The College was established to satisfy a need felt by the early settlers for educational facilities in the new region. The development of the school thus far reflects that statement.

The first campus of this college was the fort grounds south of Hays City, and this was the location of the college for two years. As soon as the center section of Picken Hall was completed, the school then moved to its present location.

Music Festival Week was May 1st to May 8th, 1921. The festival was under direction of Henry Edward Malloy, head of the Department of Music. This community chorus of 620 voices, with guest artists, sang "The Messiah" on two Sunday evening performances, accompanied by a 52-piece orchestra.

Henry Edward Malloy came to Fort Hays Normal School from Bethany College at Lindsborg and became head of the Music Department in 1914. One of his goals was to develop the Music Department. Another was to promote community and public-school music throughout Western Kansas by preparing adequate music teachers.

The Reveille Staff of 1919. "The Reveille is a signal usually sounded by a bugle or drum at sunrise summoning soldiers or sailors to the day's duties." Back in 1914 the Reveille was born. The name was chosen because the staff thought it was a fitting title that reflected the thought and spirit of the student body. To them it suggested action, conquest and victory. The Reveille staff of 1975 sounds its bugle in providing the student body with a yearbook that not only will give the students a listing of the year's events but also a yearbook pleasing to the eye.

Many hours go into planning and producing the Reveille. The variety of styles through the years is very interesting. From the Victory Issue to the current book you are now reading, Fort Hays State's story has been preserved through the conscious efforts of journalists. The Reveille has a long list of honors for outstanding appearance, coverage and photography.

Picken Hall, formerly Academic Hall or Administration Building, was the first building constructed on campus. The center portion was erected in 1903 with the north and south wings added in 1908. The building was remodeled in 1960-61. It houses classrooms for Humanities and Business, with some administrative offices, as well.

William Picken, at the time of his selection as principal of the college, was a teacher of history and Latin on the Emporia faculty. When Emporia's President Wilkinson selected Picken as principal of the Western Branch State Normal School, he said: "We give you the best man for the place."

These swimming novices of 1954 await the use of the pool located in Sheridan Coliseum which was built in 1917. The pool, along with the rest of the building became deficient and obsolete in the past years. Now, in 1975, college students, faculty and area residents can use and enjoy the new Olympic size pool in Cunningham Hall.

President M. C. Cunningham and Walter Keating, Comptroller, watch drilling of the first oil well on college property on January 1, 1950. While the revenue from this source hasn't been great, it did provide financial help. The funds were used for capital improvements when money appropriated by the government was insufficient. Oil lease funds were used in completing the first unit of Wiest Hall and since then have provided extra dollars needed to complete other projects.

In 1963, when the American people were somewhat hopeful about the political condition of the country, President John F. Kennedy was brutally assassinated. A decade later tragedy struck the United States again when political corruption was discovered by two Washington Post reporters who broke the news to the nation. Many members of the White House staff, President Richard Nixon and Vice-President Spiro Agnew were exposed and were forced to leave office for involvement in what was to be recorded in history as the Watergate Scandal.

Congressman Keith Sebelius, FHS alumnus, and Dr. W. D. Moreland, professor emeritus of political science, who taught for more than 30 years at FHS, present 1974 Congressional records to Mac Reed for Forsyth Library. Each year, Sebelius has donated similar records to FHS. Moreland, since retirement, has worked with the Kansas Congressman in Washington, D. C.

Creating an environment of the pioneer days, freshmen Steve Piderit and John Hansen, remodeled their room at Wiest Hall. "The Shack" took six weekends to complete.

The outhouse contains a refrigerator for late night snacks and a stereo for entertainment. Putting together two by four inch frames, they wedged the frames against the walls and then nailed everything to the wood frames. Not a nail or screw was put in the wall to support their pioneer home.

College Anthem
by Jack Juergens

On the plains of Western Kansas Stands a school we all love well
'Twas built by the toil of our fathers;
To its glory our voices swell.

Chorus:
Hail to old Fort Hays State!
Let your voices ring.
Praise for the Black and Gold
We will ever sing.
Long may our voices last
Through the future days,
Hon'ring and praising
Dear Fort Hays.

In the years that lie before us
We foresee our land's many needs.
Through the efforts of new generations
We'll go on to more noble deeds.

Chorus:

a. Reville staff members planned a special get together to show appreciation to their adviser.
 b. Katherine Rogers has organized and supervised the High School Journalism Conference for years. Her efforts to improve scholastic journalism reached many students across Western Kansas.

The Reveille Honors Katherine Rogers

Not many students have the opportunity to work with an adviser like Katherine Rogers. After 18 years of teaching English and Journalism at Fort Hays State, she decided to retire. The following is an excerpt from a speech given by Robert Lowen, Director of Information Services at her Retirement Dinner. This speech includes many thoughts that are fitting to those who know and will miss her.

"Katherine Rogers can be tough, even hardnosed if the occasion calls for it. She is an excellent teacher who constantly strives to be a better one.

This lady taught English when she first came to Fort Hays State College and then took it upon herself to study journalism teaching. She is the most thorough teacher of Journalism in the department and one of the best in Kansas . . . She scares young people off when it is determined that she expects hard work and participation and the student finds that there's more to being a good journalist than sleeping through class. She expects involvement and those who don't get involved come up short or missing. She is firm. She is a teacher.

She has nine All-American yearbooks to her credit. Though she doesn't always agree with what young people want in their books, she points out what responsible reporting and record keeping is all about and she labors over those proof pages saving embarrassment for the young editors. She is no censor but simply points out the difference between right and wrong and no mature, educated person can doubt those pillars of journalism."

a. Many of her college friends and associates were present at the Retirement Dinner held at the end of the year.

b. Director of Information Services, Robert Lowen, presents Katherine Rogers a certificate signed by the advisers attending the Journalism Conference for her outstanding work.

Carefree yet serious times of '75 will be thought of in many different kinds of ways by students and faculty. The Reveille's theme deals with the relevance of what man has done in 1975. Preparing for the nation's bicentennial, we observe the events of 1775 and realize the importance of our ancestors' efforts to secure liberty for every person. Our futures will be controlled by state, national and world events and how we act on them.

History has the unique feature of being repeated. Man keeps encountering the same problems he has essentially created. Communist advances in Southeast Asia and the world, political downfalls and uprisings, inflation, pollution and destruction of natural resources continue to lie on the age-old path tread upon by mankind. Rebate will be a key word that probably will be best remembered from 1975. Attempts to slow down the economics prompted rebates to be granted on houses, cars, income tax, all kinds of merchandise — even diapers!

We acknowledge the grim world situation and most everyone is conscious of the important developments taking place and the need to conserve. But in our geographical location, what happens across the world can occasionally go unnoticed because it doesn't always directly affect us.

We will answer that locally we lived in a clean air environment, a lightly populated region and free from most world problems that took place. The campus population was one penetrated by apathy in Student Senate and Queen Candidate elections.

What will our generation do to change the world. The answer to that is with the word change. We need to be able to accept change and what our lives could be like through a new approach. If we allow that change of body or spirit, a new world can be shaped. Life's flow and ebb of daily experiences govern what potential we have for improvement. Our forefathers' spirit for freedom is an example of what can be accomplished with change.

Question yourself where were you and what did you do to make '75 the way it was.

The Reveille serves as a constant reminder of what took place during this year at Fort Hays State. My thanks to a faithful staff and several extra-dedicated members; a patient adviser, Katherine Rogers, who will retire and be missed on campus next year; Taylor Publishing Company representative, Paul McClellan; Lorraine "Jack" Jackson and student photographers for color and black and white prints; Rappoport Studios for class portraits and Gary Hinman for the drawing of President Gustad on page 49. Special thanks to E. J., my wife, for drawing the cover design and the encouragement and understanding of the opportunities I've had for change in my own self.
